

Holywell House Orthodontics Ltd – Data Protection Policy

Holywell House complies with UK GDPR and this policy describes our procedures for ensuring that personal information about patients is processed fairly and lawfully.

What personal data do we hold?

In order to provide you with a high standard of dental care and attention, we need to hold personal information about you. This personal data consists of:

- your past and current medical and dental condition; personal details such as your age, national insurance number, address, telephone number and your general medical practitioner
- radiographs, clinical photographs and study models
- information about the treatment that we have provided or propose to provide and its cost
- notes of conversations/incidents that might occur for which a record needs to be kept
- records of consent to treatment
- any correspondence relating to you with other health care professionals, for example in the hospital or community services

Why do we hold information about you?

We need to keep comprehensive and accurate personal data about our patients in order to provide them with safe and appropriate dental care. We also need to process personal data about you in order to provide care under NHS arrangements and to ensure the proper management and administration of the NHS.

How we process the data

We will process personal data that we hold about you in the following way:

Retaining information

We will retain your dental records for 11 years in accordance with NHS guidelines.

Security of information

Personal data about you is held in the practice's computer system and/or in a manual filing system. The information is not accessible to the public and only authorised members of staff have access to it. Our computer system has secure audit trails and we back up information routinely.

Disclosure of information

In order to provide proper and safe dental care, we may need to disclose personal information about you to:

- your general medical practitioner
- the hospital or community dental services
- other health professionals caring for you
- NHS payment authorities
- the Inland Revenue
- the Benefits Agency, where you are claiming exemption or remission from NHS charges
- private dental schemes of which you are a member

Disclosure will take place on a 'need-to-know' basis, so that only those individuals/organisations who need to know in order to provide care to you and for the proper administration of Government (whose personnel are covered by strict confidentiality rules) will be given the information. Only that information that the recipient needs to know will be disclosed.

In very limited circumstances or when required by law or a court order, personal data may have to be disclosed to a third party not connected with your health care. In all other situations, disclosure that is not covered by this Code of Practice will only occur when we have your specific consent.

Where possible you will be informed of these requests for disclosure.

Caldicott Principle

The Caldicott report sets the framework for the quality standards to oversee the management of confidentiality of patient information. This applies specifically to patient identifiable information, it emphasises the need for controls over the availability of such information and access to it. The six Caldicott principles are

- Justify the purpose(s) of every proposed transfer
- Don't use it unless it is absolutely necessary
- Use the minimum necessary
- Access to it is on a strict need to know principle
- Everyone with access to it should be aware of their responsibilities
- Understand and comply with the law.

Access

You have the right of access to the data that we hold about you and to receive a copy. Access may be obtained by making a request in writing/by email. We will provide a copy of the record within 21 days of receipt of the request and an explanation of your record should you require it. Any queries over access to your documents or for further information please contact Anna Sammut (contact details available from reception).

Data Protection Impact Assessment (DPIA)

A DPIA will be carried out for any processing of information or project that identifies as high risk.

If you do not agree

If you do not wish personal data that we hold about you to be disclosed or used in the way that is described in this Code of Practice, please discuss the matter with your dentist. You have the right to object, but this may affect our ability to provide you with dental care.
